Marital Status and Living Arrangements: March 1993

INTRODUCTION

This report presents detailed information on the marital status and living arrangements of the noninstitutional population of the United States, based on the results of the March 1993 Current Population Survey (CPS). The text of the report compares current survey data with data collected from earlier surveys. In some instances, data from decennial censuses are used when survey data are not available.

The estimates for 1993 in the report are inflated to national population controls by age, race, sex, and Hispanic origin. The population controls are based on results of the 1980 census carried forward to 1993. The estimates in this report, therefore, may differ from estimates that would have been obtained using 1990 census results brought forward to the survey date. Population controls incorporating 1990 census results will be used for survey estimation beginning with 1994 CPS results.

All demographic surveys including CPS and SIPP (Survey of Income and Program Participation) suffer from undercoverage of the population. This undercoverage results from missed housing units and missed persons within sample households. Compared to the level of the 1980 Decennial Census, overall CPS and SIPP undercoverage is about 7 percent. Undercoverage varies with age, sex, and race. For some groups such as 20 to 24 year old Black males, the undercoverage is as high as about 35 percent. The weighting procedures used by the Census Bureau partially correct for the bias due to undercoverage. However, its final impact on estimates is unknown. For details, see appendix D.

Highlights of the topics discussed in this report include:

- The proportion of men and women age 30 to 34 years who have never married has tripled since 1970. For women, the proportion grew from 6 ( $\pm 1.0$ ) percent to 19 ( $\pm 1.3$ ) percent and for men the proportion increased from 9 ( $\pm 1.3$ ) percent to 30 ( $\pm 1.6$ ) percent between 1970 and 1993.
- In 1993, there were 6 unmarried couples for every 100 married couples, compared with only 1 for every 100 in 1970.
- More than 1 in every 8 adults age 15 and over lived alone in 1993 (23.6 million,  $\pm 517$ ).

- In 1993, a child in a single-parent situation was just slightly more likely to be living with a parent who was divorced (37 ( $\pm 1.3$ ) percent) as with a parent who had never been married (35 ( $\pm 1.3$ ) percent).

MARITAL STATUS OF ADULTS

Marital status, as shown in this report, reflects the person's status as of the survey date. For instance, the number of divorced persons is the count of those currently divorced and not yet remarried. It is not a count of divorces that occurred in 1993 nor a count of all persons who have ever divorced in their lifetime.

The category "married" includes adults who live with their spouse or who live apart due to marital discord (separation) or for any other reason. Since 1970, the number of married persons has increased from 95.0 million to 114.5 million in 1993. (See table A.) However, this increase was smaller than the rise in the number of unmarried adults.

"Unmarried" includes adults who have never married and who are currently divorced or widowed. The number of unmarried adults has grown from 37.5 million in 1970 to 72.6 million in 1993. Unmarried adults represented 39 percent of the population 18 years and over in 1993. Never-married persons made up the largest share of unmarried adults in 1993 (58 percent) and a sizable portion of the total adult population (23 percent). Between 1970 and 1993, the number of never-married persons doubled, from 21.4 million to 42.3 million. However, the fastest growing of any marital status category was for divorced persons. The number currently divorced more than tripled, from 4.3 million in 1970 to 16.7 million in 1993, representing 9 percent of all adults age 18 and over in 1993.

Similar patterns of decline in the proportion married and increase in the proportion unmarried have occurred for Whites, Blacks, and for persons of Hispanic origin (table A and figure 1). In 1993, 64 percent of White adults were currently married, down from 73 percent in 1970. The proportion never-married among Whites increased from 16 to 20 percent during this period.

Less than half (43 percent) of Black adults age 18 and older were currently married in 1993, a considerable decrease from 64 percent in 1970. Thirty-eight percent of Black adults in 1993 had never been married, up from 21 percent in 1970.

The proportion of Hispanics who were currently married declined from 72 to 60 percent between 1970 and 1993. The never-married proportion rose from 19 to 28 percent.

DELAYING MARRIAGE

The estimated median age at first marriage continues to rise. In 1993, the median age was 26.5 years for men and 24.5 years for women (table B). The median age at first marriage has been rising since the mid-1950's, and has increased quite rapidly during the past two decades. Since 1975, the median age has increased 3 full years for men (from 23.5 to 26.5 years) and more than 3 years for women (from 21.1 to 24.5 years).

The proportion of men and women, by age, who have never married is presented in table C and figure 2. Since 1970, the proportions never married have doubled, and in some cases, have tripled for the age groups between 25 and 44 years. For example, between 1970 and 1993, the proportion of persons age 30 to 34 years who had never married tripled from 6 to 19 percent for women and from 9 to 30 percent for men. Among persons 40 to 44 years old, the proportions never married doubled from 5 to 9 percent for women and from 6 to 11 percent for men between 1970 and 1993.

Significant increases in the proportions never married have occurred for Whites, Blacks, and Hispanics. Among women under age 45, the highest proportions never married were Black. At age 40 to 44 years, 22 percent of Black women in 1993 had not yet married, compared with 7 percent of White and 9 percent of Hispanic women.<sup>1</sup> At older ages, similar proportions have married among Black, White and Hispanic women. At age 65 and over, only 4 percent of Blacks had never married, compared with 4 percent of Whites and 8 percent of Hispanics.

Delayed marriage may lessen the chance of divorce. Studies have shown that marriages at younger ages have a higher probability of divorce than do marriages at older ages. However, delayed marriage may also increase the chance of out-of-wedlock childbearing.<sup>2</sup>

Researchers have found that delay in marriage may be offset by the increase in cohabitation. The increase in adults who have never been married may reflect the increase of adults in nonmarital union living arrangements rather than an increase in the traditional "singles."<sup>3</sup>

UNMARRIED-COUPLE HOUSEHOLDS

The number of unmarried-couple households was 3.5 million in 1993, compared with 523,000 in 1970 (table D). An "unmarried-couple household," as used here, is composed of two unrelated adults of the opposite sex (one of whom is the householder) who share a housing unit with or without the presence of children under 15 years old. This count of unmarried-couple households is intended mainly to identify cohabiting couples, but it may also include households with a roommate, boarder, or paid employee of the opposite sex.

In the 1990 decennial census, a new approach was adopted to estimate the number of cohabiting households. The relationship category, "unmarried partner," was added to the 1990 Census Questionnaire. The Census definition of this category is, "a person who is not related to the householder, who shares living quarters, and who has a close personal relationship with the householder." This category differs from the "roomer/ boarder" and "housemate/ roommate" categories, where the person is not related to the householder and shares the living quarters primarily to reduce housing expenses.

The count of households with an unmarried partner of opposite sex in the census of 1990 was 3,042,642. This is close to the 1990 Current Population Survey count of unmarried-couple households (2.9 million). Because the "unmarried partner" category is new to the census in 1990, the "unmarried-couple household" data from the CPS provide the only tool available for measuring change. The closeness of the two estimates (Census vs. CPS) in 1990 suggests that the increase in cohabiting couples can be measured with reasonable accuracy using the CPS.

Since 1970, the number of unmarried-couple households has grown from 523,000 to 3.5 million. Today, there are 6 unmarried couples for every 100 married couples, compared with only 1 for every 100 in 1970.

LIVING ALONE

The population living alone represented about 1 in every 8 adults age 15 and over in 1993 (23.6 million). (See table E.) While women accounted for the larger share of persons living alone in 1993 (6 of 10), the number of men living alone increased at a faster pace than the number of women living alone. Between 1970 and 1993, the number of women living alone rose from 7.3 million to 14.2 million, a 94-percent increase. During this same time period, the number of men living alone rose from 3.5 million to 9.4 million, an increase of 167 percent.

Living alone is more common among the elderly, especially among women. Of adults under 25 years, only 3 percent of women and 4 percent of men lived alone in 1993. For persons age 75 and older, the proportion was 52 percent for women and 20 percent for men.

At the youngest age groups, there was a significant increase in the proportions of men and women living alone during the 1970's, but there has been no increase since 1980.<sup>4</sup> Among adults under 35 years, the proportions of men and women living alone at least doubled between 1970 and 1980, while there was no increase between 1980 and 1993. Among 35-to-44-year-olds, the proportion living alone increased during each time period (1970-to-1980 and 1980-to-1993), growing from 4 to 10 percent for men between 1970 and 1993 and from 3 to 6 percent for women. (See figure 3.)

For persons age 75 and over, there was virtually no increase in the proportion of men living alone (19 percent in 1970 and 20 percent in 1993), but there was a large increase for women (from 37 to 52 percent). Most of the increase for women occurred during the decade of the 1970's.

Percent Living Alone, by Age and Sex:
1970, 1980, and 1993

The marital status of men and women who live alone is very similar at the younger ages, but differs at the older ages (table 7). At the younger ages (25 to 44 years) in 1993, the majority of men and women who lived alone had never been married (64 percent for men and 66 percent for women). Divorced persons make up 26 percent of these younger men and, similarly, 25 percent of younger women living alone in 1993. At older ages (65 years and over), a higher proportion of women than men were widowed (81 percent of women compared with 57 percent of men). Women on average live longer than men and longevity is a major factor affecting the gender differences in living arrangements of the elderly.

LIVING ARRANGEMENTS OF CHILDREN

Children under age 18 are considerably more likely to be living with only one parent today than two decades ago. As marital circumstances of the adult population have changed, so have the living arrangements of children. The rise in divorce and delay in first marriage among adults are two of the major factors contributing to the growing proportion of children in one-parent living situations.

In 1993, 27 percent of children under 18 lived with one parent, up from 12 percent in 1970 (table F). The majority (87 percent) of these children live with their mother, but an increasing proportion live with their father. In 1993, 13 percent of the children in a one-parent situation lived with their father, up from 9 percent in 1970.

* Persons of Hispanic origin may be of any race.

Source of Hispanic data for 1970: 1970 Census of Population, PC(2)-1C, Persons of Spanish Origin.

White children are less likely to be living with one parent than are Black children or children of Hispanic origin. The proportions living with one parent in 1993 were 21 percent for White children, 57 percent for Black children, and 32 percent for children of Hispanic origin.

Table G and figure 4 show the proportion of children in a one-parent arrangement who lived with a divorced parent compared with those living with a parent who had never been married. Notice the years 1982 and 1983 are highlighted. During these years, improvements were made to the Census Bureau's data collection and processing procedures to help identify parent-child sub-families that might otherwise have been overlooked.<sup>5</sup> (This accounts for most of the large increase in children of never-married parents between 1981 and 1983.) This analysis, therefore, compares changes in the proportions before and after the improvement period rather than the overall change between the years 1970 and 1993.

Between 1970 and 1981, the proportion of children living with one parent who lived with a divorced parent rose by one-half (from 30.2 to 43.8 percent), while the proportion living with a never-married parent doubled, from 6.8 to 15.2 percent. In the 10 years since the improvements were implemented (between 1983 and 1993), the proportion of one-parent children who lived with a divorced parent declined from 42.0 to 37.1 percent, while the proportion who lived with a never-married parent continued to rise, from 24.0 to 35.0 percent. Thus, a decade ago, a child in a one-parent situation was almost twice as likely to be living with a divorced parent as with a never-married parent, while today, the child is just slightly more likely to be living with a divorced parent (37 percent) than with a never-married parent (35 percent).

The increase in children living with one parent is also reflected in number of births to unmarried women collected by the National Center for Health Statistics. Between 1980 and 1991, the number of births to unmarried women rose by 82 percent. In 1991, there were 1.2 million births to unmarried mothers, representing 3 out of 10 total births in that year. The comparable figures for 1980 were 0.7 million births, fewer than 2 out of 10 total births.<sup>6</sup>

GRANDCHILDREN

In 1993, there were 3.4 million grandchildren under 18 years old living in the home of their grandparent(s). This represented 5 percent of all children under 18, up only slightly from 3 percent of all children in 1970 (table H). The number of grandchildren shown here includes only those situations where the grandparents owned or rented the home; it does not include grandparents living in the home of the child's parent(s).

Most of the increase in grandchildren living with grandparents has been among children with only a mother present in the household. Since 1970, the proportion of grandchildren with neither parent present has declined from 43 to 30 percent in 1993, while the proportion with mother only present has increased from 37 to 49 percent. Continued high levels of divorce and the rise in out-of-wedlock childbearing had a substantial role in this change, as did the improvement in data collection and processing mentioned in the preceding section.

Black children were more likely to live in their grandparents' home than White children or children of Hispanic origin. In 1993, 12 percent of Black children lived in the home of their grandparents, compared with 4 percent for Whites and 6 percent for Hispanics.

Similar proportions of Black, White, and Hispanic grandchildren had only their mother present. Black grandchildren were more likely than other grandchildren to have no parent present at all and less likely to have both parents living with them in the grandparent's home. Of the 1.3 million Black grandchildren in 1993, 53 percent had only their mother present (versus 46 and 47 percent for Whites and Hispanics, respectively), 39 percent had neither parent present (versus 25 and 23 percent for Whites and Hispanics), and 4 percent had both parents present (versus 20 and 23 percent for Whites and Hispanics). White and Hispanic grandchildren were as likely to have both parents present as to have neither present.

Appendix A. Definitions and Explanations

Coverage. The population in this report includes the civilian noninstitutional population of the United States plus approximately 838,000 members of the Armed Forces in the United States living off post or with their families on post in 1993 but excludes all other members of the Armed Forces.

Symbols. A dash (-) represents zero or rounds to zero. The symbol "B" means that the base for the derived figure is less than 75,000. An "X" means not applicable, and "NA" means not available.

Rounding of estimates. Individual figures are rounded to the nearest thousand without being adjusted to group totals, which are independently rounded; percentages are based on the unrounded numbers.

Metropolitan-nonmetropolitan residence. The population residing in metropolitan areas (MA's) constitutes the metropolitan population. MA's are defined by the Office of Management and Budget for use in the presentation of statistics by agencies of the Federal Government. An MA is a geographic area consisting of a large population nucleus, together with adjacent communities which have a high degree of economic and social integration with that nucleus. The definitions specify a boundary around each large city to include most or all of its suburbs. Entire counties form the MA building blocks, except in New England where cities and towns are used.

An area qualifies for recognition as an MA if (1) it includes a city of at least 50,000 population, or (2) it includes a Census Bureau-defined urbanized area of at least 50,000 with a total metropolitan population of at least 100,000 (75,000 in New England). In addition to the county containing the main city or urbanized area, an MA may include other counties having strong commuting ties to the central county. If specified conditions are met, certain large MA's are designated as consolidated metropolitan statistical areas (CMSA's) and divided into component primary metropolitan statistical areas (PMSA's).

In July 1985, the Current Population Survey (CPS) began carrying the metropolitan statistical area definitions announced by the Office of Management and Budget on June 30, 1984. Figures published from the CPS in the early 1980's and throughout most of the 1970's referred to metropolitan areas as defined on the basis of the 1970 census. Since there are important differences in the population classified as metropolitan using the 1970 and 1984 definitions, comparisons should be avoided.

The new CPS metropolitan estimates have consistently been higher than independent estimates of the metropolitan population prepared by the Census Bureau; the new CPS nonmetropolitan estimates have been lower than the independent estimates. The apparent overestimation of metropolitan and underestimation of nonmetropolitan population in the CPS relative to the Census Bureau's independent estimates should be taken into account when using the data.

Age. The age classification is based on the age of the person at the person's last birthday. The adult universe (i.e., population of marriageable age) now comprises persons 15 years old and over. Prior to 1980 the adult universe was 14 years old and over.

Race. The population is divided into three groups on the basis of race: White, Black, and other races. The last category includes Indians, Japanese, Chinese, and any other race except White and Black.

Persons of Hispanic origin. Persons of Hispanic origin in this report were determined on the basis of a question that asked for self-identification of the person's origin or descent. Respondents were asked to select their origin (or the origin of some other household member) from a "flash card" listing ethnic origins. Persons of Hispanic origin, in particular, were those who indicated that their origin was Mexican, Puerto Rican, Cuban, Central or South American, or some other Hispanic origin. Persons of Hispanic origin may be of any race.

Marital status. The marital status classification identifies four major categories: never married, married, widowed, and divorced. These terms refer to the marital status at the time of the enumeration.

The category "married" is further divided into "married, spouse present," "separated," and "other married, spouse absent." A person was classified as "married, spouse present" if the husband or wife was reported as a member of the household, even though he or she may have been temporarily absent on business or on vacation, visiting, in a hospital, etc., at the time of the enumeration. Persons reported as separated included those with legal separations, those living apart with intentions of obtaining a divorce, and other persons permanently or temporarily separated because of marital discord. The group "other married, spouse absent" includes married persons living apart because either the husband or wife was employed and living at a considerable distance from home, was serving away from home in the Armed Forces, had moved to another area, or had a different place of residence for any other reason except separation as defined above.

Age at first marriage. The median age at first marriage, as shown in this report, is an approximation derived indirectly from tabulations of marital status and age. In computing this median, several steps are involved. First, the expected proportion of young people who will ever marry during their lifetime is computed. Second, one-half of this expected proportion is calculated. And third, the current age of young people who are at this halfway mark is computed. From the assumptions made and the procedures used, it follows that the date of the survey is also the date when this halfway mark is reached. Half of the young people of the given age who will ever get married had done so prior to the survey date and half are expected to marry in years to come.

The quartile ages at first marriage divide people who will ever marry into four equal groups. The first quartile age is the age at which 25 percent of persons have married, the second quartile age (or median age) is the age at which 50 percent of persons have married, and the third quartile age is the age at which 75 percent of persons have married. The quartile ages are computed from the same distributions and involve the same assumptions as to the median ages.

Household. A household consists of all the persons who occupy a housing unit. A house, an apartment or other group of rooms, or a single room, is regarded as a housing unit when it is occupied or intended for occupancy as separate living quarters; that is, when the occupants do not live and eat with any other persons in the structure and there is direct access from the outside or through a common hall.

A household includes the related family members and all the unrelated persons, if any, such as lodgers, foster children, wards, or employees who share the housing unit. A person living alone in a housing unit, or a group of unrelated persons sharing a housing unit as partners, is also counted as a household. The count of households excludes group quarters.

Group quarters. As of 1983, group quarters were defined in the Current Population Survey as noninstitutional living arrangements for groups not living in conventional housing units or groups living in housing units containing ten or more unrelated persons or nine or more persons unrelated to the person in charge. (Prior to 1983, group quarters included housing units containing five or more persons unrelated to the person in charge.) Examples of persons in group quarters include a person residing in a rooming house, in staff quarters at a hospital, or in a halfway house. Beginning in 1972, inmates of institutions have not been included in the Current Population Survey.

Householder. The householder refers to the person (or one of the persons) in whose name the housing unit is owned or rented (maintained) or, if there is no such person, any adult member, excluding roomers, boarders, or paid employees. If the house is owned or rented jointly by a married couple, the householder may be either the husband or the wife. The person designated as the householder is the "reference person" to whom the relationship of all other household members, if any, is recorded.

Prior to 1980, the husband was always considered the householder in married-couple households. The number of householders is equal to the number of households. Also, the number of family householders is equal to the number of families.

Head versus householder. Beginning with the 1980 CPS, the Bureau of the Census discontinued the use of the terms "head of household" and "head of family." Instead, the terms "householder" and "family householder" are used. Recent social changes have resulted in greater sharing of household responsibilities among the adult members and, therefore, have made the term "head" increasingly inappropriate in the analysis of household and family data. Specifically, the Census Bureau has discontinued its longtime practice of always classifying the husband as the reference person (head) when he and his wife are living together.

In this report, the term "householder" is used in the presentation of data that had previously been presented with the designation "head." The householder is the first adult household member listed on the questionnaire. The instructions call for listing first the person (or one of the persons) in whose name the home is owned or rented. If a home is owned jointly by a married couple, either the husband or the wife may be listed first, thereby becoming the reference person, or householder, to whom the relationship of other household members is to be recorded.

Reference person. The reference person is the person to whom the relationship of other persons in the household is recorded. The household reference person is the person listed as the householder (see definition of "Householder"). The subfamily reference person is either the single parent or the husband/wife in a married-couple situation.

Family. A family is a group of two persons or more (one of whom is the householder) related by birth, marriage, or adoption and residing together; all such persons (including related subfamily members) are considered as members of one family. Beginning with the 1980 CPS, unrelated subfamilies (referred to in the past as secondary families) are no longer included in the count of families, nor are the members of unrelated subfamilies included in the count of family members.

Family household. A family household is a household maintained by a family (as defined above), and any unrelated persons (unrelated subfamily members and/or secondary individuals) who may be residing there are included. The number of family households is equal to the number of families. The count of family household members differs from the count of family members, however, in that the family household members include all persons living in the household, whereas family members include only the householder and his/her relatives. See the definition of family.

Related subfamily. A related subfamily is a married couple with or without children, or one parent with one or more own never-married children under 18 years old, living in a household and related to, but not including, the person or couple who maintains the household. One example of a related subfamily is a young married couple sharing the home of the husband's or wife's parents. The number of related subfamilies is not included in the count of families.

Unrelated subfamily. An unrelated subfamily (formerly called a secondary family) is a married couple with or without children, or a single parent with one or more own never-married children under 18 years old living in a household. Unrelated subfamily members are not related to the householder. An unrelated subfamily may include persons such as guests, partners, roommates, or resident employees and their spouses and/or children. The number of unrelated subfamily members is included in the total number of household members, but is not included in the count of family members.

Beginning in 1989, any person(s) who is not related to the householder and who is not the husband, wife, parent, or child in an unrelated subfamily is counted as an unrelated individual.

Family group. A family group is any two or more persons (not necessarily including a householder) residing together, and related by birth, marriage, or adoption. A household may be composed of one such group, more than one group, or none at all. The count of family groups includes family households, related subfamilies, and unrelated subfamilies.

Married couple. A married couple, as defined for census purposes, is a husband and wife enumerated as members of the same household. The married couple may or may not have children living with them. The expression "husband-wife" or "married-couple" before the term "household," "family," or "subfamily" indicates that the household, family, or subfamily is maintained by a husband and wife. The number of married couples equals the count of married-couple families plus related and unrelated married-couple subfamilies.

Unmarried couple. An unmarried couple is composed of two unrelated adults of the opposite sex (one of whom is the householder) who share a housing unit with or without the presence of children under 15 years old.

Unrelated individuals. Unrelated individuals are persons of any age who are not members of families or subfamilies.

Nonfamily householder. A nonfamily householder is a person maintaining a household while living alone or exclusively with persons to whom they are not related.

Secondary individuals. Secondary individuals are persons of any age who reside in a household, but are not related to the householder (except unrelated subfamily members). Persons who reside in group quarters are also secondary individuals. Examples of a secondary individual include (1) a guest, partner, roommate, or resident employee; (2) a foster child; or (3) a person residing in a rooming house, a halfway house, staff quarters at a hospital, or other type of group quarters.

Own children and related children. "Own" children in a family are sons and daughters, including stepchildren and adopted children, of the householder. Similarly, "own" children in a subfamily are sons and daughters of the married couple or parent in the subfamily. (All children shown as members of related subfamilies are own children of the person(s) maintaining the subfamily.) "Related" children in a family include own children and all other children in the household who are related to the householder by birth, marriage, or adoption. For each type of family unit identified in the CPS, the count of own children under 18 years old is limited to never-married children; however, "own children under 25" and "own children of any age," as the terms are used here, include all children regardless of marital status. The totals include never-married children living away from home in college dormitories.

The count of related children in families was formerly restricted to never-married children. However, beginning with data for 1968, the Bureau of the Census includes ever-married children under the category of related children. This change added approximately 20,000 children to the category of related children in March 1968.

Tenure. A housing unit (including a cooperative or condominium unit) is "owned" if the owner or co-owner lives in the unit, even if it is mortgaged or not fully paid for. All other occupied units are classified as "rented," including units rented for cash rent and those occupied without payment of cash rent.

Years of school completed. Education of parent, as shown in this report, refers to the years of school completed by the parent (the reference person when both parents are present). Data on years of school completed were derived from the combination of answers to two questions, (1) "What is the highest grade of school that the person has attended?" and (2) "Did the person finish this grade?"

Labor force and employment status. The definitions of labor force and employment status in this report are related to the civilian population 15 years old and over. Persons shown here are classified as in the labor force if they were employed as civilians during the survey week.

Employed. Employed persons comprise (1) all civilians who, during the specified week, did any work at all as paid employees or in their own business or profession, or on their own farm, or who worked 15 hours or more as unpaid workers on a farm or in a business operated by a member of the family, and (2) all those who were not working but who had jobs or businesses from which they were temporarily absent because of illness, bad weather, vacation, or labor management dispute, or because they were taking time off for personal reasons, whether or not they were paid by their employers for time off, and whether or not they were seeking other jobs. Excluded from the employed group are persons whose only activity consisted of work around the house (own home housework, painting or repairing own home, etc.) or volunteer work for religious, charitable, and similar organizations.

Unemployed. Unemployed persons are those civilians who, during the survey week, had no employment but were available for work and (1) had engaged in any specific job-seeking activity within the past 4 weeks, such as registering at a public or private employment office, meeting with prospective employers, checking with friends or relatives, placing or answering advertisements, writing letters of application, or being on a union or professional register; (2) were waiting to be called back to a job from which they had been laid off; or (3) were waiting to report to a new wage or salary job within 30 days.

Not in the labor force. All civilians who are not classified as employed or unemployed are defined as "not in the labor force." This group who are neither employed nor seeking work includes persons engaged only in own home housework, attending school, or unable to work because of long-term physical or mental illness; persons who are retired or too old to work, seasonal workers for whom the survey week fell in an off season, and the voluntary idle. Persons doing only unpaid family work (less than 15 hours) are also classified as not in the labor force.

Income. Data on income cover money income only, prior to deduction for taxes, received from such sources as wages or salaries, net income from self-employment, Social Security, dividends, interest, public assistance and welfare, unemployment compensation, government pensions, and veterans payments. Certain money receipts such as capital gains are not included.

In table 6, number of children by family income refers to the income of the family (including related subfamily members, if any) or of the unrelated subfamily of which the child is a member. For a more detailed explanation of income, see Bureau of the Census, Current Population Reports, Series P60.

Poverty. The poverty definition used here is that adopted for official Government use by the Office of Management and Budget and consists of a set of money income thresholds that vary by family size and composition. Families or individuals with income below a particular threshold are classified as below the poverty level. The poverty thresholds are updated every year to reflect changes in the Consumer Price Index. These thresholds are based on money income only and do not include the value of noncash benefits such as employer-provided health insurance, food stamps, or Medicaid. For a more detailed explanation, see Bureau of the Census, Current Population Reports, Series P60.

Undocumented immigrants. The 1980 census counted about 2 million undocumented immigrants according to Census Bureau estimates. Beginning in January 1986, the independent population controls included an allowance for growth in the undocumented population for every year since 1980. This methodological change was partially offset by another change that increased the allowance for emigration of legal residents. Data shown for Current Population Surveys with controls based on pre-1986 methods have not been revised to take into account these methodological changes. Consequently, direct comparisons of CPS figures for months before January 1986 with later months will not be consistent. Series P-25, No. 985 reviews the postcensal population estimates methodology currently in use.

Appendix B. Source and Accuracy of the Data

SOURCE OF DATA

Most estimates in this report come from data obtained in March of the years 1960 through 1993 in the Current Population Survey (CPS). The Bureau of the Census conducts the survey every month, although this report uses only March data for its estimates. Also, some estimates come from 1970 and 1980 decennial census data. The March survey uses two sets of questions, the basic CPS and the supplements.

Basic CPS. The basic CPS collects primarily labor force data about the civilian noninstitutional population. Interviewers ask questions concerning labor force participation about each member 15 years old and over in every sample household.

The present CPS sample was selected from the 1980 decennial census files with coverage in all 50 States and the District of Columbia. The sample is continually updated to account for new residential construction. It is located in 729 areas comprising 1,973 counties, independent cities, and minor civil divisions. About 60,000 occupied housing units are eligible for interview every month. Interviewers are unable to obtain interviews at about 2,600 of these units because the occupants are not found at home after repeated calls or are unavailable for some other reason.

Since the introduction of the CPS, the Bureau of the Census has redesigned the CPS sample several times to improve the quality and reliability of the data and to satisfy changing data needs. The most recent changes were completely implemented in July 1985.

Table B-1 summarizes changes in the CPS designs for the years for which data appear in this report.

March Supplement. In addition to the basic CPS questions, interviewers asked supplementary questions in March about marital status and living arrangements.

To obtain more reliable data for the Hispanic origin population, the March CPS sample was increased by about 2,500 eligible housing units. These housing units were interviewed the previous November and contained at least one sample person of Hispanic origin. In addition, the sample included persons in the Armed Forces living off post or with their families on post.

Estimation Procedure. This survey's estimation procedure inflates weighted sample results to independent estimates of the civilian noninstitutional population of the United States by age, sex, race and Hispanic/non-Hispanic categories. The independent estimates were based on statistics from decennial censuses of population; statistics on births, deaths, immigration, and emigration; and statistics on the size of the Armed Forces.

The independent population estimates used for 1981 to present were based on updates to controls established by the 1980 decennial census. Before 1981, independent population estimates from the most recent decennial census were used. For more details on the change in independent estimates, see the section entitled "Introduction of 1980 Census Population Controls" in an earlier report (Series P-60, No. 133). The estimation procedure for the March supplement included a further adjustment so husband and wife of a household received the same weight.

The estimates in this report for 1985 and later also employ a revised survey weighting procedure for persons of Hispanic origin. In previous years, weighted sample results were inflated to independent estimates of the noninstitutional population by age, sex, and race. There was no specific control of the survey estimates for the Hispanic population. Since then, the Bureau of the Census developed independent population controls for the Hispanic population by sex and detailed age groups. Revised weighting procedures incorporate these new controls. The independent population estimates include some, but not all, undocumented immigrants.

ACCURACY OF ESTIMATES

Since the CPS estimates come from a sample, they may differ from figures from a complete census using the same questionnaires, instructions, and enumerators. A sample survey estimate has two possible types of error: sampling and nonsampling. The accuracy of an estimate depends on both types of error, but the full extent of the nonsampling error is unknown. Consequently, one should be particularly careful when interpreting results based on a relatively small number of cases or on small differences between estimates. The standard errors for CPS estimates primarily indicate the magnitude of sampling error. They also partially measure the effect of some nonsampling errors in responses and enumeration, but do not measure systematic biases in the data. (Bias is the average, over all possible samples, of the differences between the sample estimates and the desired value.)

Nonsampling Variability. There are several sources of nonsampling error including the following:

- Inability to get information about all sample cases.
- Definitional difficulties.
- Differences in interpretation of questions.
- Respondents' inability or unwillingness to provide correct information.
- Respondents' inability to recall information.
- Errors made in data collection, such as recording and coding data.
- Errors made in processing the data.
- Errors made in estimating values for missing data.
- Failure to represent all units with the sample (undercoverage).

CPS undercoverage results from missed housing units and missed persons within sample households. Compared to the level of the 1980 decennial census, overall CPS undercoverage is about 7 percent. CPS undercoverage varies with age, sex, and race. Generally, undercoverage is larger for males than for females and larger for Blacks and other races combined than for Whites. As described previously, ratio estimation to independent age-sex-race-Hispanic population controls partially corrects for the bias due to undercoverage. However, biases exist in the estimates to the extent that missed persons in missed households or missed persons in interviewed households have different characteristics from those of interviewed persons in the same age-sex-race-Hispanic group. Furthermore, the independent population controls have not been adjusted for undercoverage in the 1980 census.

A common measure of survey coverage is the coverage ratio, the estimated population before ratio adjustment divided by the independent population control. Table B-2 shows CPS coverage ratios for age-sex-race groups for a recent month. The CPS coverage ratios can exhibit some variability from month to month, but these are a typical set of coverage ratios. Other Census Bureau household surveys experience similar coverage.

For additional information on nonsampling error including the possible impact on CPS data when known, refer to Statistical Policy Working Paper 3, An Error Profile: Employment as Measured by the Current Population Survey, Office of Federal Statistical Policy and Standards, U.S. Department of Commerce, 1978; and Technical Paper 40, The Current Population Survey: Design and Methodology, Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce.

Comparability of Data. Data obtained from the CPS and other sources are not entirely comparable. This results from differences in interviewer training and experience and in differing survey processes. This is an example of nonsampling variability not reflected in the standard errors. Use caution when comparing results from different sources.

Caution should also be used when comparing estimates in this report, which reflect 1980 census-based population controls, with estimates for 1980 and earlier years, which reflect 1970 census-based population controls. This change in population controls had relatively little impact on summary measures such as means, medians, and percent distributions. It did have a significant impact on levels. For example, use of 1980-based population controls results in about a 2-percent increase in the civilian noninstitutional population and in the number of families and households. Thus, estimates of levels for data collected in 1981 and later years will differ from those for earlier years by more than what could be attributed to actual changes in the population. These differences could be disproportionately greater for certain subpopulation groups than for the total population.

Since no independent population control totals for persons of Hispanic origin were used before 1985, compare Hispanic estimates over time cautiously.

Note When Using Small Estimates. Summary measures (such as medians and percentage distributions) are shown only when the base is 75,000 or greater. Because of the large standard errors involved, summary measures would probably not reveal useful information when computed on a smaller base. However, estimated numbers are shown even though the relative standard errors of these numbers are larger than those for corresponding percentages. These smaller estimates permit combinations of the categories to suit data users' needs. These estimates may not be reliable for the interpretation of small differences. For instance, even a small amount of nonsampling error can cause a borderline difference to appear significant or not, thus distorting a seemingly valid hypothesis test.

Sampling Variability. Sampling variability is variation that occurred by chance because a sample was surveyed rather than the entire population. Standard errors, as calculated by methods described next, are primarily measures of sampling variability, although they may include some nonsampling error.

Standard Errors and Their Use. A number of approximations are required to derive, at a moderate cost, standard errors applicable to all the estimates in this report. Instead of providing an individual standard error for each estimate, generalized sets of standard errors are provided for various types of characteristics. Thus, the tables show levels of magnitude of standard errors rather than the precise standard errors.

Tables B-3 through B-5 provide standard errors of estimated numbers. Tables B-6 and B-7 provide standard errors of estimated percentages. Table B-8 has standard error parameters for persons, families, households, householders, and unrelated individuals. Table B-8 also provides factors to apply to the standard errors in tables B-3 through B-7.

The sample estimate and its standard error enable one to construct a confidence interval. A confidence interval is a range that would include the average result of all possible samples with a known probability. For example, if all possible samples were surveyed under essentially the same general conditions and using the same sample design, and if an estimate and its standard error were calculated from each sample, then approximately 90 percent of the intervals from 1.645 standard errors below the estimate to 1.645 standard errors above the estimate would include the average result of all possible samples.

A particular confidence interval may or may not contain the average estimate derived from all possible samples. However, one can say with specified confidence that the interval includes the average estimate calculated from all possible samples.

Some statements in the report may contain estimates followed by a number in parentheses. This number can be added to and subtracted from the estimate to calculate upper and lower bounds of the 90-percent confidence interval. For example, if a statement contains the phrase "grew by 1.7 percent ( $\pm 1.0$ )," the 90-percent confidence interval for the estimate, 1.7 percent, is 0.7 percent to 2.7 percent.

Standard errors may be used to perform hypothesis testing. This is a procedure for distinguishing between population parameters using sample estimates. The most common type of hypothesis appearing in this report is that the population parameters are different. An example of this would be comparing the number of unmarried Blacks to the number of unmarried Whites.

Tests may be performed at various levels of significance. The significance level of a test is the probability of concluding that the characteristics are different when, in fact, they are the same. All statements of comparison in the text have passed a hypothesis test at the 0.10 level of significance or better. This means that the absolute value of the estimated difference between characteristics is greater than or equal to 1.645 times the standard error of the difference.

Standard Errors of Estimated Numbers. There are two ways to compute the approximate standard error,  $s_x$ , of an estimated number shown in this report. The first uses the formula where  $f$  is a factor from table B-8, and  $s$  is the standard error of the estimate obtained by interpolation from tables B-3 through B-5. The second method uses formula (2), from which the standard errors in tables B-3 through B-5 were calculated. This formula will provide more accurate results than formula (1).

$$s_x \sqrt{ax^2 + bx} \quad (2)$$

Here  $x$  is the size of the estimate and  $a$  and  $b$  are the parameters in table B-8 associated with the particular type of characteristic. When calculating standard errors for numbers from cross-tabulations involving different characteristics, use the factor or set of parameters for the characteristic that will give the largest standard error.

Illustration. Suppose that 46,503,000 children under 18 years old lived with two parents. Use the appropriate parameters from table B-8 and formula (2) to get:

Number, $x$	46,503,000
$a$ parameter	-0.000026
$b$ parameter	4,785
Standard error	408,000
90% confidence interval	45,832,000 to 47,174,000

The standard error is calculated as

$$s = \sqrt{-0.000026 \times 46,503,000^2 + 4,785 \times 46,503,000} = 408,000$$

The 90-percent confidence interval is calculated as  $46,503,000 \pm 1.645 \times 408,000$ .

A conclusion that the average estimate derived from all possible samples lies within a range computed in this way would be correct for roughly 90 percent of all possible samples.

The alternate calculation of the standard error, using formula (1) with  $f=1.0$  from table B-8 and  $s=404,000$  by interpolation from table B-3 is

$$s_x = 1.0 \times 404,000 = 404,000$$

Standard Errors of Estimated Percentages. The reliability of an estimated percentage, computed using sample data for both numerator and denominator, depends on the size of the percentage and its base. Estimated percentages are relatively more reliable than the corresponding estimates of the numerators of the percentages, particularly if the percentages are 50 percent or more. When the numerator and denominator of the percentage are in different categories, use the factor or parameter from table B-8 indicated by the numerator.

The approximate standard error,  $s_{x,p}$ , of an estimated percentage can be obtained by use of the formula

$$s_{x,p} = fs \quad (3)$$

In this formula,  $f$  is the appropriate factor from table B-8, and  $s$  is the standard error of the estimate obtained by interpolation from table B-6 or B-7.

Alternatively, formula (4) will provide more accurate results:

$$s_{x,p} = \sqrt{(b/x)p(100-p)} \quad (4)$$

Here  $x$  is the total number of persons, families, households, or unrelated individuals in the base of the percentage,  $p$  is the percentage ( $0 \leq p \leq 100$ ), and  $b$  is the parameter in table B-8 associated with the characteristic in the numerator of the percentage.

Illustration. Suppose that of the 2,856,000 unmarried-couple households, 1,189,000 or 41.6 percent, are 25 to 34 years old. Use the appropriate parameter from table B-8 and formula (4) to get:

Percentage, $p$	41.6
Base, $x$	2,856,000
$b$ parameter	1,661
Standard error	1.2
90% confidence interval	39.6 to 43.6

The standard error is calculated as

$$s_{x,p} = \sqrt{\frac{1,661}{2,856,000} \times 41.6 \times (100 - 41.6)} = 1.2$$

The 90-percent confidence interval for the percentage of unmarried-couple households who are 25 to 34 years old is calculated as  $41.6 \pm 1.645 \times 1.2$ .

The alternate calculation of the standard error, using formula (3), with  $f=0.6$  from table B-8 and  $s=2.0$  by interpolation from table B-6 is

$$s_{x,p} = 0.6 \times 2.0 = 1.2$$

Standard Error of a Difference. The standard error of the difference between two sample estimates is approximately equal to where  $s_x$  and  $s_y$  are the standard errors of the estimates,  $x$  and  $y$ . The estimates can be numbers, percentages, ratios, etc. This will represent the actual standard error quite accurately for the difference between estimates of the same characteristic in two different areas, or for the difference between separate and uncorrelated characteristics in the same area. However, if there is a high positive (negative) correlation between the two characteristics, the formula will overestimate (underestimate) the true standard error.

$$s_{x-y} = \sqrt{s_x^2 + s_y^2} \quad (5)$$

Illustration. Suppose there were 3,155,000 children living with grandparents in 1990 and in 1980 there were 2,306,000. Use the appropriate parameters from table B-8 (the parameters for 1980 are listed below) and formulas (2) and (5) to get:

	x	y	difference
Number	3,155,000	2,306,000	849,000
a parameter	-0.000026	-0.000023	-
b parameter	4,785	4,667	-
Standard error	122,000	103,000	160,000
90% conf. int.	2,954,300 to 3,355,700	2,136,600 to 2,475,400	586,000 to 1,112,000

The standard error of the difference is calculated as

$$s_{x-y} = \sqrt{122,000^2 + 103,000^2} = 160,000$$

The 90-percent confidence interval around the difference is calculated as  $849,000 \pm 1.645 \times 160,000$ . Since this interval doesn't contain zero, we can conclude, at the 90-percent significance level, that the number of children living with grandparents in 1990 is greater than in 1980.

Standard Error of a Ratio. Certain estimates may be calculated as the ratio of two numbers. The standard error of a ratio,  $x/y$ , may be computed using

The standard error of the numerator,  $s_x$ , and that of the denominator,  $s_y$ , may be calculated using formulas described earlier. In formula (6),  $r$  represents the correlation between the numerator and the denominator of the estimate.

For one type of ratio, the denominator is a count of families or households and the numerator is a count of persons in those families or households with a certain characteristic. If there is at least one person with the characteristic in every family or household, use 0.7 as an estimate of  $r$ . An example of this type is the mean number of children per family with children.

Hispanic origin .....	-0.000318	3,339	0.8	-0.000143	1,501	0.6

For all other types of ratios,  $r$  is assumed to be zero. If  $r$  is actually positive (negative), then this procedure will provide an overestimate (underestimate) of the standard error of the ratio. Examples of this type are the mean number of children per family and the poverty rate.

NOTE: For estimates expressed as the ratio of  $x$  per 100  $y$  or  $x$  per 1,000  $y$ , multiply formula (6) by 100 or 1,000, respectively, to obtain the standard error.

Illustration. Suppose the ratio of men age 65 to 74, living alone,  $x$ , to women age 65 to 74, living alone,  $y$ , is 31.5 per 100. Use the appropriate parameters from table B-8. (The parameters below are from an earlier report in this series.) The standard error of this ratio is calculated as follows:

	$x$	$y$	ratio
Estimate	1,042,000	3,309,000	31.5
a parameter	-0.000020	-0.000020	-
b parameter	4,185	4,185	-
Standard error	66,000	117,000	2.3
90% conf. int.	933,400 to 1,150,600	3,116,500 to 3,501,500	27.7 to 35.3

Using formula (6) with  $r=0$ , the estimate of the standard error is

The 90-percent confidence interval is calculated as  $31.5 \pm 1.645 \times 2.3$ .
