Annual Benchmark Report for Wholesale Trade: January 1992 through January 2005

INTRODUCTION

The U.S. Census Bureau produces the Annual Benchmark Report for Wholesale Trade to provide national estimates by kind of business of monthly and annual sales and end-of-month non-LIFO (last-in, first-out) inventories for merchant wholesale establishments, except manufacturing sales branches and offices. Estimates of annual purchases and gross margin are also provided.

We develop the estimates in this report using data from the Annual Wholesale Trade Survey (AWTS) and Monthly Wholesale Trade Survey (MWTS). For each survey, questionnaires are mailed to a probability sample of firms located in the United States and having paid employees. The samples are updated regularly and periodically reselected. These samples include firms of all sizes.

Additional information on AWTS and MWTS can be found on the Census Bureau Web site at:

COVERAGE

The estimates in this publication are summarized by kind-of-business classification based on the 2002 North American Industry Classification System (NAICS). NAICS groups establishments into industries based on the activities in which they are primarily engaged. This system was developed by the joint efforts of statistical agencies in Canada, Mexico, and the United States. The common industry definitions allow for statistics to be compared by business activity across North America.

Wholesale trade, as defined by NAICS Sector 42, includes establishments engaged in wholesaling merchandise, generally without transformation, and rendering services incidental to the sale of merchandise.

Wholesalers are organized to sell or arrange the purchase or sale of

1. goods to other wholesalers or retailers
2. capital or durable nonconsumer goods, or
3. raw and intermediate materials and supplies used in production.

The AWTS and MWTS cover wholesale merchants who sell goods on their own account and include such businesses as wholesale merchants or jobbers, industrial distributors, exporters, and importers. Sales offices and branches maintained by manufacturing, refining, or mining firms for the purpose of marketing their products are not covered in this report. Also excluded is NAICS Industry Group 4251: Wholesale Electronic Markets and Agents and Brokers.

A summary of changes from the prior benchmark report and the procedures for producing the revised estimates are described below.

SUMMARY OF CHANGES

We use 2002 NAICS industry codes in place of 1997 NAICS industry codes. The industry coverage remains the same; however, the numerical codes assigned to each industry have changed (i.e., 423 replaces 421 and 424 replaces 422).

For NAICS 4235 (Metals and Minerals (except Petroleum)), we no longer include data from manufacturers' sales branches of ferrous metals service centers with inventories. Therefore, the estimates shown in this report represent merchant wholesalers, except manufacturing sales branches and offices.

For NAICS 4245 (Farm Products), we benchmarked the annual estimates to results from the economic censuses for 1992, 1997, and 2002. Previously we used results from the AWTS.

For some NAICS industries, we revised unadjusted monthly sales and inventory estimates for January 1998 through January 2005. For the remaining NAICS industries, unadjusted estimates of monthly sales and inventories were revised for January 1992 through January 2005.

The revised unadjusted estimates reflect:

- Results from the 1992 and 1997 Censuses of Wholesale Trade.
- Preliminary results from the 2002 Census of Wholesale Trade derived in early March 2005.
- Results from the 2003 AWTS.
- New annual estimates developed for 1992–2003 due to the Census Bureau's implementation of new classification rules for the boundary between the retail trade and wholesale trade sectors. See detailed description in the "Revision to Previously Published Estimates" section.

We revised annual estimates based on results from the wholesale censuses. For some NAICS industries, annual sales, end-of-year inventories, purchases, and gross margin estimates were revised for 1998–2002. For the remaining NAICS industries, annual estimates of sales, end-of-year inventories, and purchases were revised for 1992–2002. Gross margins were revised for 1993–2002. For all NAICS industries, we derived new annual sales, end-of-year inventories, purchases, and gross margins for 2003.

For some NAICS industries, new seasonal and trading-day adjustment factors were computed and used to adjust sales for January 1995 through January 2005. Adjusted estimates were derived beginning January 1995 instead of January 1998 because the revised 1998 unadjusted estimates can significantly affect the computation of seasonal factors as far back as 1995. New seasonal factors were used to adjust inventories for January 1995 through January 2005 for some NAICS industries. For the remaining NAICS industries, new factors were computed and used to adjust sales and inventories starting with January 1992. Factors for both sales and inventories were developed by using unadjusted estimates as input to the seasonal adjustment program.

REVISIONS TO PREVIOUSLY PUBLISHED ESTIMATES

Annual Estimates

For most NAICS industries, annual estimates of sales, inventories, and purchases were input to the benchmarking program to derive revised estimates for 1998–2003. Also, for selected industries, corrections were applied to the various estimates. The estimates were revised in a manner that —

- Equates the 2002 annual estimates to preliminary results derived from the 2002 Census of Wholesale Trade.¹
- Links the series to the 1997 Census of Wholesale Trade level.
- Maintains, as best as possible, the year-to-year changes computed from estimates derived from the AWTS for 1998 through 2003.

For certain NAICS industries, we revised estimates back to 1992 for the following reasons:

¹The inventory estimates for the census year 2002 were computed by multiplying the inventories obtained from the annual survey by the ratio of preliminary census sales to sales derived from the 2002 annual survey. Census inventories were not used because they do not include inventories of auxiliary and central administrative offices of merchant wholesalers. The same methodology was used to derive 1992 and 1997 inventory constraints. The same methodology was used to derive 1992, 1997, and 2002 purchases constraints.

- New rules for classifying establishments in the 1997 and 2002 Census of Wholesale Trade were implemented for NAICS industries 4231, 4232, 4233, 4234 (including 42343), 4236, 4237, 4238, 4241, 4247, and 4249. Some of the establishments classified as wholesale in 2002 were classified as retail in 1997 due to different implementation rules. Also, some establishments that were classified as used auto parts (42314) in the 1997 Census of Wholesale Trade were reclassified in retail NAICS industry 44131 in the 2002 Census of Retail Trade. In order to maintain a consistent time series, we revised the results from the 1992 and 1997 censuses to be comparable with the 2002 census results.
- For NAICS subsectors 4232, 4244, 4245, 4248, and 4249, we revised inventory estimates back to 1992 due to revisions to the annual estimates.
- For NAICS subsectors 4235 and 4245, we revised sales and inventory estimates forward from 1992.

For NAICS industries mentioned above, we derived revised estimates for 1992 through 2003 and equated the 1992, 1997, and 2002 estimates to results derived from the census.

Estimates of Monthly Sales

For most NAICS industries, merchant wholesale sales estimates for December 1997 through January 2005 were input to the benchmarking program. Also, for selected industries, corrections were applied to the estimates. The estimates were revised in a manner that —

- constrains the sum of the 12 monthly sales estimates for a particular year to equal the corresponding revised annual sales estimates (benchmarks) derived for 1998 through 2003.
- minimizes the differences between the month-to-month changes of the input and revised estimates.
- uses the previously published December 1997 estimate to link the revised estimates to the previously published estimates.

For the NAICS industries where annual sales were revised back to 1992, we also constrained the sum of the 12 monthly sales estimates for 1992–1996 to equal the corresponding annual sales estimates for these years.

A mathematical result of the benchmarking methodology is that all input estimates following the end of the last benchmark year (2003) are derived by multiplying these estimates by the ratio of the benchmarked-to-input estimate for the last month of the last benchmark year. Therefore, for a specified sales series, a ratio of the December 2003 benchmarked estimate to the December 2003 input estimate was computed. Estimates for periods following December 2003 were multiplied by these constant ratios (called carry-forward factors) to derive published sales estimates. The carry-forward factors remain constant until the next benchmarking operation.

Estimates of End-of-Month Inventories

For some NAICS industries, end-of-month inventory estimates for December 1997 through January 2005 were the input to the benchmarking program. Also, for selected kinds of business, corrections were applied to the estimates. The estimates were revised in a manner that —

- equates the December inventory estimates from the monthly survey for 1997 through 2003 to the corresponding end-of-year revised inventory estimates derived from the annual survey.
- minimizes the differences between the month-to-month changes of the input and revised estimates.

- uses the previously published December 1997 estimate to link the revised estimates to the previously published estimates.

For those NAICS industries where annual end-of-year inventories were revised back to 1992, we equated the December, or end-of-month inventory estimates for 1992–2003 to the corresponding revised end-of-year inventories.

Estimates subsequent to December 2003 were derived by multiplying the input estimates by the ratio of the December 2003 published estimate to the input estimate for December 2003. This ratio is the carry-forward factor for inventory and remains constant for all series until the next benchmarking operation.

The table shown below compares the annual unadjusted sales and inventory estimates for 2004 prior to and after the revision. Revisions shown are for the sum of the monthly estimates for 2004.

Reasons for Revisions

There are several reasons for revisions. The main contributors to the revision from the previously published estimates are:

- New rules for classifying establishments. Since we benchmark the sales and inventory estimates to the economic census levels, changes in classification between the 1997 census and 2002 census affect the levels of the monthly and annual estimates. The previously published estimates were benchmarked to the 1997 Economic Census; the revised estimates, however, are benchmarked to the 2002 Economic Census. For further explanation of the benchmarking to the economic census, refer to the "Revisions to Previously Published Estimates" section earlier in this document.

- Timing. Respondents have more time to prepare their annual reports than their monthly reports. The annual responses are requested at a time when many firms have already compiled unaudited book figures for their own use. This includes adjustments for returns, allowances, and other customer transactions. The timing of the annual survey is such that we are also able to obtain independent verification of the reported data from such sources as a company's annual report. On the other hand, respondents to the monthly survey have just a few weeks to provide reports of their sales and end-of-month inventories. Sometimes these reports are based on incomplete or unaudited records, including estimates by the respondents to represent their understanding of their business.

- Sampling. As described in more detail in Appendix A of this report, the annual sample is larger than the samples used to develop the estimates for any given month.
- Response. The annual estimates are based on more reported data than are the monthly estimates. The response to the Annual Wholesale Trade Survey is required by law. This requirement results in a dollar volume response rate for sales above 91 percent and for inventories about 93 percent. The response to our monthly survey is not mandatory. The corresponding response rates for the monthly survey are usually around 69 percent for sales and 67 percent for inventories. The sales and inventories for nonresponding firms are accounted for by an imputation process. This process assumes that nonresponding firms have trends similar to the responding firms in their respective kind-of-business.

To reduce respondent burden, some of the data from the Annual Wholesale Trade Survey were obtained from data collected for single unit establishments on the 2002 Census of Wholesale Trade.

DEFINITION OF TERMS

Dollar Values

All dollar values presented are expressed in current dollars (not adjusted to a constant dollar series). Consequently, when comparing estimates to prior years, users also should consider price level changes.

Confidentiality

Title 13 of the United States Code authorizes the Census Bureau to conduct censuses and surveys. Section 9 of the same Title requires that any information collected from the public under the authority of Title 13 be maintained as confidential. Section 214 of Title 13 and Sections 3559 and 3571 of Title 18 of the United States Code provide for the imposition of penalties of up to five years in prison and up to $250,000 in fines for wrongful disclosure of confidential census information. In accordance with Title 13, no estimates are published that would disclose the operations of an individual firm.

The Census Bureau's internal Disclosure Review Board sets the confidentiality rules for all data releases. A checklist approach is used to ensure that all potential risks to the confidentiality of the data are considered and addressed.

Disclosure Limitation

A disclosure of data occurs when an individual can use published statistical information to identify either an individual or firm that has provided information under a pledge of confidentiality. Disclosure limitation is the process used to protect the confidentiality of the survey data provided by an individual or firm. Using disclosure limitation procedures, the Census Bureau modifies or removes the characteristics that put confidential information at risk for disclosure. Although it may appear that a table shows information about a specific individual or business, the Census Bureau has taken steps to disguise or suppress the original data while making sure the results are still useful. The techniques used by the Census Bureau to protect confidentiality in tabulations vary, depending on the type of data.

Unpublished Estimates

Additional statistics, such as dollar volume estimates for some kinds of business not separately shown in this report, are produced as a byproduct of the regularly published statistics. These additional estimates have not been included in this publication because of high sampling variability, poor response, or other factors that may make them potentially misleading. Upon written request, for a nominal fee the Census Bureau will release these estimates for individual use, though not for publication. It should be noted that some unpublished estimates can be derived directly from this report by subtracting published estimates from their respective totals. However, the estimates obtained by such subtraction would be subject to the poor response rates or high sampling variability described previously for unpublished kinds of business.

Individuals who use estimates in this report to create new estimates should cite the Census Bureau as the source of only the original estimates.

Adjustment Factors

We use the X-12 ARIMA Program to derive the factors for adjusting data for seasonal variations and, in the case of sales, for trading day differences. Seasonal adjustment of estimates is an approximation based on current and past experiences. Therefore, the adjustment could become less precise because of changes in economic conditions and other elements that introduce significant changes in seasonal and trading-day patterns.

Concurrent seasonal adjustment uses all available unadjusted estimates (including the latest preliminary estimates) as input to the X-12 ARIMA program. When unadjusted preliminary and final estimates become available, all estimates are used as input to the X-12 ARIMA program and new factors are applied to the preliminary and final estimates (1 month before the preliminary) and to the previous year estimates that correspond to the preliminary month.

Sales

Sales include merchandise sold for cash or credit at wholesale and retail by establishments primarily engaged in merchant wholesale trade; receipts from customers for rental or leasing of equipment, instruments, tools, etc.; receipts for delivery, installation, alteration, maintenance, repair, storage, and other services; and gasoline, liquor, tobacco, and other excise taxes which are paid by the manufacturer and passed along to the wholesaler.

Sales are net after deductions for refunds and allowances for merchandise returned by customers. Sales that are made on an agency basis for others are included as gross sales. Direct shipments on orders from wholesalers are also included in sales. Total sales do not include non-operating income from such sources as investments, rental or sale of real estate, etc.

Sales exclude sales taxes and excise taxes collected directly from customers and paid directly to a local, State, or Federal tax agency. Also excluded are receipts from customers for carrying or other credit charges.

Inventories

Inventories represent stocks on a non-LIFO basis (firms that valued inventory on a LIFO basis included the values of LIFO reserve in the total inventory levels) of merchandise owned by merchant wholesalers at the end of the month, regardless of location, except for goods held outside the United States. Goods held on consignment and items not held for sale such as fixtures, equipment, and supplies are not included. Goods held in foreign trade zones in the United States are also included. Methods of valuation may vary according to the accounting practices of the firm.

Inventories/Sales Ratios

The inventories/sales ratios are derived by dividing the dollar value of inventories by the dollar value of sales. No adjustment is made in these ratios for the markup in sales, which may vary from trade to trade.

Purchases

Purchases represent the total cost of merchandise acquired for resale during the year, whether or not payment for the merchandise was made during the year. Purchases are net of returns, allowances, and trade and cash discounts but include payments by the wholesaler for freight, insurance, import duties, and credit and other charges. Purchases exclude the cost of containers, wrapping, packaging, and selling supplies. Also excluded are liquor and tobacco tax stamps.

Cost of Goods Sold

Cost of goods sold is not shown in this report but can be derived by subtracting gross margin data from annual sales data. They represent the total cost of merchandise sold for cash or credit at wholesale and retail by establishments primarily engaged in merchant wholesale trade. Cost of goods sold is calculated by adding all purchases of merchandise (net of returns, allowances, and discounts but including charges for freight, insurance, etc.) during the year to the beginning year inventories, then deducting the end-of-year inventories from the total. Firms were instructed to exclude the cost of containers, wrapping, packaging, and selling supplies in the cost of purchases. Purchase of tax stamps and payments of excise taxes often included by tobacco and liquor wholesalers in their purchases were excluded from cost of goods sold.

Gross Margin

Gross margin represents sales less cost of goods sold. Gross margin is equivalent to the cost of all materials (as distinguished from goods to be resold) and services provided in merchant wholesale establishments, whether provided by the merchant wholesaling firm itself or purchased by it from others. To the extent that it includes cost of contract work done by others on materials of the merchant wholesale firms, gross margin includes an element of value added by manufacturing.

Gross Margin as a Percent of Sales

Gross margin as a percent of sales is derived by dividing the gross margin by dollar value of sales. No adjustments are made for service revenues that may be included in sales data.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

E-Commerce Data

Data for e-commerce sales and electronic data interchange (EDI) can be found on the Census Bureau Web site at: www.census.gov/estats. Data for survey year 2003 will be released April 2005.

Survey Questionnaires

The Annual Wholesale Trade Survey questionnaires can be found on the Census Bureau Web site at: www.census.gov/svsd/www/atsforms.html.

Manufacturers' Sales Branches and Offices Data

Data for manufacturers' sales branches and offices for survey year 2003 will be released in April 2005. Data can be found on the Census Bureau Web site at: www.census.gov/svsd/www/whltable.html.

⁰Preliminary estimates. (NA) Not available. (X) Cumulative estimates are not applicable for inventories or inventories/sales ratios.

¹Estimates are adjusted for seasonal variations and, in the case of sales, also for trading-day differences. Cumulative seasonally adjusted sales estimates are not tabulated.

²Estimates are not adjusted for seasonal variations or trading-day differences.

Note: Estimates have not been adjusted for price changes. Table 3 and 4 provide measures of sampling variability of estimated monthly and annual totals, respectively. The introduction and appendixes give information on confidentiality protection, sampling error, nonsampling error, sample design, and definitions. Explanatory Material

SAMPLE DESIGN AND ESTIMATION PROCEDURES

New samples were introduced with the 1999 Annual Wholesale Trade Survey (AWTS) and with the March 2001 Monthly Wholesale Trade Survey (MWTS). The new samples were designed to produce estimates based on the North American Industry Classification System (NAICS) and replace samples designed to produce estimates based on the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) system. This section describes the design, selection, and estimation procedures for the new samples. For descriptions of the prior samples see the Annual Benchmark Report for Wholesale Trade for January 1990 to February 2000 or prior benchmark reports.

Sampling Frame

The same sampling frame was used for the Monthly Wholesale Trade Survey (MWTS) and the Annual Wholesale Trade Survey (AWTS). The sampling frame has two types of sampling units represented — Employer Identification Numbers (EINs) and large, multiple-establishment firms. Both sampling units represent clusters of one or more establishments owned or controlled by the same firm. The information used to create these sampling units was extracted from data collected as part of the 1997 Economic Census and from establishment records contained on the Census Bureau's Business Register as updated to June 1999. The next few paragraphs give details about the Business Register; the distinction between firms, EINs, and establishments; and the construction of the sampling units. Though important, they are not essential to understanding the basic sample design and readers may continue to the Stratification, Sampling Rates, and Allocation section.

The Business Register is a multi-relational database that contains a record for each known establishment that is located in the United States or one of its territories and has employees. An establishment is a single physical location where business transactions take place and for which payroll and employment records are kept. Groups of one or more establishments under common ownership or control are firms. A singleunit firm owns or operates only one establishment. A multiunit firm owns or operates two or more establishments. The treatment of establishments on the Business Register differs according to whether the establishment is part of a singleunit or multiunit firm. In particular, the structure of an establishment's primary identifier on the Business Register differs depending on whether it is owned by a singleunit firm or by a multiunit firm.

A singleunit firm's primary identifier is its Employer Identification Number (EIN). The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) issues the EIN and the firm uses it as an identifier to report social security payments for its employees under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA). The same act requires all employer firms to use EINs. Each employer firm is associated with at least one EIN and only one firm can use a given EIN. Because a singleunit firm has only one establishment, there is a one-to-one relationship between the firm and the EIN. Thus the firm, the EIN, and the establishment all reference the same physical location and all three terms can be used interchangeably and unambiguously when referring to a singleunit firm.

For multiunit firms however, a different structure connects the firm with its establishments via the EIN. Essentially a multiunit firm is associated with a cluster of one or more EINs and EINs are associated with one or more establishments. A multiunit firm consists of at least two establishments. Each firm is associated with at least one EIN and only one firm can use a given EIN. However, one multiunit firm may have several EINs. Similarly, there is a one-to-many relationship between EINs and establishments. Each EIN can be associated with many establishments but each establishment is associated with only one EIN. Because of the possibility of one-to-many relationships, we must distinguish between the firm, its EINs, and its establishments. The multiunit firm that owns or controls a particular establishment is identified on the Business Register by way of the establishment's primary identifier.

The primary identifier of an establishment owned by a multiunit firm consists of a unique combination of an alpha number and a plant number. The alpha number identifies the multiunit firm, and the plant number identifies a particular establishment within that firm. All establishments owned or controlled by the same multiunit firm have the same alpha number. Different multiunit firms have different alpha numbers, and different establishments within the same multiunit firm have different plant numbers. The Census Bureau assigns both the alpha number to the multiunit firm and plant numbers to the corresponding establishments based on the results of the quinquennial economic census and the annual Company Organization Survey.

To create the sampling frame, we extract the records for all establishments classified as merchants within the Wholesale Trade sector as defined by the 1997 North American Industry Classification System. For these establishments, we extract sales, payroll, employment, inventory, name and address information, as well as primary identifiers and, for establishments owned by multiunit firms, associated EINs. To create the sampling units for multiunit firms, we aggregate the economic data of the establishments owned by these firms to an EIN level by tabulating the establishment data for all extracted establishment records (i.e., establishments classified in the Wholesale Trade sector) associated with the same EIN. Similarly we aggregate the data to a multiunit firm level by tabulating the establishment data for all extracted establishment records associated with the same alpha number. No aggregation is necessary to put singleunit establishment information on an EIN basis or a firm basis. Thus, the sampling units created for singleunit firms simultaneously represent establishment, EIN, and firm information. In summary, the sampling frame is a complex amalgam of establishments, EINs, and firms.

Stratification, Sampling Rates, and Allocation

The primary stratification of the frame is by kind-of-business group based on the detail required for this publication. We further stratify the sampling units within kind-of-business group (substratify) by a measure of size related to their annual sales. Sampling units expected to have a large effect on the precision of the estimates are selected “with certainty.” This means they have a 100% chance of selection and will represent only themselves (i.e., have a selection probability of one and a sampling weight of one). Within each kind-of-business stratum we determined a substratum boundary that divides the certainty units from the noncertainty units. We based these cutoffs on a statistical analysis of data from the 1997 Economic Census. Accordingly, these values are on a 1997 sales basis. We also used this analysis to identify companies with large 1997 inventory as certainty units, to determine the number of size substrata for each kind-of-business stratum, and to set preliminary sampling rates needed to achieve specified sampling variability objectives on sales (or inventory) estimates for different kind-of-business groups. The size substrata and sampling rates were later updated through an analysis of the sampling frame.

Sample Selection

The first step in the sample selection identified certainty firms. If a firm was selected with certainty and had more than one establishment at the time of sampling, any new establishments that the firm acquires, even if under new or different EINs, are included in the sample with certainty. However, if a singleunit firm was selected with certainty, only future establishments associated with that firm’s originally-selected EIN are included in the sample with certainty; any new EINs that might later be associated with that firm are subjected to sampling through the quarterly birth-selection procedure (see Sample Maintenance).

All firms not selected with certainty were subjected to sampling on an EIN basis. If a firm had more than one EIN, we treated each of its EINs as a separate sampling unit. To be eligible for the initial sampling, an EIN used by a singleunit firm had to have nonzero payroll in 1998. EINs used by multiunit firms were required to have nonzero payroll in 1997. The EINs were stratified according to their major kind of business and their estimated annual sales (on a 1997 basis). Within each noncertainty stratum, a simple random sample of EINs was selected. We then assigned the selected noncertainty EINs to one of two groups. One group is canvassed for both the monthly and annual surveys, the other only for the annual survey. The maximum sampling weight for an EIN selected for the monthly survey was 800. The maximum sampling weight for an EIN selected for the annual survey was 400.

Sample Maintenance

Periodically, we update the samples to represent EINs issued since the initial sample selection. These new EINs, called births, are EINs recently assigned by the IRS, on the latest available IRS mailing list for FICA taxpayers, and assigned a kind-of-business classification (if possible) by the Social Security Administration (SSA).

EIN births are sampled on a quarterly basis using a two-phase selection procedure. To be eligible for selection, a birth must either have no kind-of-business classification or be classified in a kind of business within the scope of AWTS, the Annual Retail Trade Survey (ARTS), or the Service Annual Survey (SAS), and it must meet certain criteria regarding its number of paid employees or quarterly payroll. In the first phase, births are stratified by kind of business and a measure of size based on expected employment or quarterly payroll. A relatively large sample is drawn and canvassed to obtain a more reliable measure of size, consisting of sales in two recent months, and a new or more detailed kind-of-business classification.

Using this more reliable information, the selected births from the first phase are subjected to probability proportional-to-size sampling with overall probabilities equivalent to those used in drawing the initial AWTS, ARTS, and SAS samples from the June 1999 Business Register. Because of the time it takes for a new employer firm to acquire an EIN from the IRS, and because of the time needed to accomplish the two-phase birth-selection procedure, births are added to the samples approximately nine months after they begin operation.

The processing of the EIN births differs between the monthly (MWTS) and annual (AWTS) surveys. For the MWTS, EIN births selected in a quarter are added into the survey during the next quarter. Because births are not represented in the monthly sample until they go through the two-phase selection procedure, an interim procedure is used to account for births during the period between the onset of activity and the time of birth selection. This consists of imputing data for all EINs selected in the monthly sample that go out of business but are still on the IRS mailing list.

For the AWTS, EIN births that are selected in the quarterly birth-selection procedure in November of the annual survey year are included in the initial mailing of the AWTS questionnaires in February of the following year. To better represent all EIN births in the annual survey year, and specifically to account for the time it takes to identify and select new EINs, we add births to the annual sample that are selected in February, May, and August of the year following the annual survey year. We mail survey forms to these births around June and August to supplement the initial annual survey mailing.

To be eligible for the sample canvass and tabulation, an EIN selected in the noncertainty sampling operations must meet both of the following requirements:

- It must be on the latest available IRS mailing list for FICA taxpayers from the previous quarter.
- It must have been selected from the Business Register in either the initial sampling or during the quarterly birth-selection procedure.

EINs selected into the samples with certainty are not dropped from canvass and tabulation if they are no longer on the IRS mailing list. Rather, the firm that used the EIN is contacted, and if a successor EIN is found, it is added to the survey.

Monthly Estimation Procedures

The estimates of monthly sales and end-of-month inventories published in this report are derived from data collected in the Monthly Wholesale Trade Survey (MWTS). Each month, all firms selected with certainty (sampling weight equal to 1) and one of the two groups of noncertainty (sampling weight greater than 1) EINs are asked to report their sales and inventory data for the month just ending. (As noted in the Sample Selection section, noncertainty EINs are assigned to one of two groups. One group is canvassed for the monthly and annual survey while the other group is canvassed only for the annual survey.) Estimates of monthly sales and end-of-month inventories are computed as the sum of weighted data (reported and imputed) for all selected sampling units that meet the tabulation criteria given in the Sample Maintenance section. The weight for a given sampling unit is the reciprocal of its probability of selection into the MWTS sample. The monthly estimates are benchmarked using the corresponding annual survey estimates and economic census results. See the Revisions to Previously Published Estimates section located at the beginning of this report for a description of the benchmarking procedures.

Estimation Procedures for Annual Totals

Published estimates of annual sales, end-of-year inventories, and purchases for 2003 were computed by multiplying the revised 2002 annual estimates by the corresponding 2002-to-2003 change estimated from the 2002 and 2003 Annual Wholesale Trade Surveys. All firms selected with certainty and both groups of noncertainty EINs are asked to report data for the reference year. (Two years of data are requested in the year in which a new sample is introduced.) Estimates are computed as the sum of weighted data (reported and imputed) for all selected sampling units that meet the tabulation criteria given in the Sample Maintenance section. The weight for a given sampling unit is the reciprocal of its probability of selection into the AWTS sample. Because both groups of noncertainty EINs are canvassed for the annual survey, the annual estimates have less sampling variability than the corresponding monthly estimates. The annual estimates presented in this report have been adjusted using results of the 2002 Economic Census.

The estimates of total end-of-year inventory published in this report are on a non-LIFO basis. For those firms that reported inventory on a LIFO (last-in, first-out) basis, the LIFO reserve amount is added to the LIFO value to get inventory on a non-LIFO basis. In the annual survey, sampling units that used a LIFO cost basis for all or part of their inventory were asked to report LIFO reserves.

The estimates of gross margin represent sales minus the cost of goods sold (see Definition of Terms section) and are computed as a function of weighted sales, inventories, and purchases data from the AWTS.

RELIABILITY OF THE ESTIMATES

The total error of an estimate based on a sample survey is the difference between the estimate and the population parameter that it estimates. This error may be considered to be comprised of sampling error and nonsampling error. Sampling error is the difference between the estimate and the result that would be obtained from a complete enumeration of the sampling frame conducted under the same survey conditions. This error occurs because characteristics differ among sampling units and because only a subset of the entire population is measured in a sample survey. Nonsampling error encompasses all other factors that contribute to the total error of a sample survey estimate. The accuracy of a survey result may be affected by these two types of errors.

Sampling and nonsampling errors are often measured by the quantities, bias and variance. The bias of an estimator of a population parameter is the difference, averaged over all possible samples of the same size and design, between the estimator and the population parameter being estimated. (The population parameter is usually unknown.) Any systematic error, or inaccuracy that affects all samples of a specified design in a similar way, may bias the resulting estimates. The variance of an estimator is the squared difference, averaged over all possible samples of the same size and design, between the estimator and its average value.

Descriptions of sampling and nonsampling errors for the Monthly Wholesale Trade Survey (MWTS) and the Annual Wholesale Trade Survey (AWTS) are provided in the following sections.

Sampling Error

Because the estimates are based on a sample, exact agreement with results that would be obtained from a complete enumeration of merchant wholesale firms on the sampling frame using the same enumeration procedures is not expected. However, because each firm represented on the sampling frame has a known probability of being selected into the sample, it is possible to estimate the sampling variability of the survey estimates.

The particular sample used in this survey is one of a large number of samples of the same size that could have been selected using the same design. If all possible samples had been surveyed under the same conditions, an estimate of a population parameter of interest could have been obtained from each sample. These samples give rise to a distribution of estimates for the population parameter. A statistical measure of the variability among these estimates is the standard error, which can be approximated from any one sample. The standard error is defined as the square root of the variance. The coefficient of variation (or relative standard error) of an estimator is the standard error of the estimator divided by the estimator. Note that measures of sampling variability, such as the standard error and coefficient of variation, are estimated from the sample and are also subject to sampling variability. (Technically, we should refer to the estimated standard error or the estimated coefficient of variation of an estimator. However, for the sake of brevity, we have omitted this detail.) It is important to note that the standard error and coefficient of variation only measure sampling variability. They do not measure any systematic biases in the estimates. Table 3 provides the minimum, maximum, and median coefficients of variation for estimates of monthly sales and end-of-month inventories for each kind of business. The ranges and medians shown in Table 3 are based on the latest available MWTS estimates for January 2004 through December 2004. Coefficients of variation for estimates of annual sales, end-of-year inventories, purchases, gross margin, and gross margin-to-sales ratios for each kind of business are provided in Table 4. These coefficients of variation are based on 2003 AWTS data, adjusted using results of the 2002 Economic Census. (All coefficients of variation are expressed as percents.) The Census Bureau recommends that individuals using estimates contained in this report incorporate this information into their analyses, as sampling error could affect the conclusions drawn from these estimates.

The estimate from a particular sample and the standard error associated with the estimate can be used to construct a confidence interval. A confidence interval is a range about a given estimator that has a specified probability of containing the result of a complete enumeration of the sampling frame conducted under the same survey conditions. Associated with each interval is a percentage of confidence, which is interpreted as follows. If, for each possible sample, an estimate of a population parameter and its approximate standard error were obtained, then:

1. For approximately 90 percent of the possible samples, the interval from 1.645 standard errors below to 1.645 standard errors above the estimate would include the result of a complete enumeration.
2. For approximately 95 percent of the possible samples, the interval from two standard errors below to two standard errors above the estimate would include the result of a complete enumeration.

To illustrate the computation of a confidence interval for an estimate of total sales, assume that an estimate of total sales is $10,750 million and the coefficient of variation for this estimate is 1.8 percent, or 0.018. First obtain the standard error of the estimate by multiplying the total sales estimate by its coefficient of variation. For this example, multiply $10,750 million by 0.018. This yields a standard error of $193.5 million. The upper and lower bounds of the 90-percent confidence interval are computed as $10,750 million plus or minus 1.645 times $193.5 million. Consequently, the 90-percent confidence interval is $10,432 million to $11,068 million. If corresponding confidence intervals were constructed for all possible samples of the same size and design, approximately 9 out of 10 (90 percent) of these intervals would contain the result obtained from a complete enumeration.

Nonsampling Errors

Nonsampling error encompasses all other factors that contribute to the total error of a sample survey estimate and may also occur in censuses. It is often helpful to think of nonsampling error as arising from deficiencies or mistakes in the survey process. In the MWTS and the AWTS, nonsampling error can be attributed to many sources: inability to obtain information about all units in the sample; response errors; differences in the interpretation of the questions; mistakes in coding or keying the data obtained; and other errors of collection, response, coverage, and processing. Additional nonsampling error may have been introduced by the method used to adjust the survey estimates using results of the 2002 Economic Census. Although no direct measurement of the potential biases due to nonsampling error has been obtained, precautionary steps were taken in all phases of the collection, processing, and tabulation of the data in an effort to minimize their influence. The Census Bureau recommends that individuals using estimates in this report incorporate this information into their analyses, as nonsampling error could affect the conclusions drawn from these estimates. A potential source of bias in the estimates is nonresponse. Nonresponse is defined as the inability to obtain all the intended measurements or responses about all selected units. Two types of nonresponse are often distinguished. Unit nonresponse is used to describe the inability to obtain any of the substantive measurements about a sampled unit. In most cases of unit nonresponse, the questionnaire was never returned to the Census Bureau, after several attempts to elicit a response. Item nonresponse occurs either when a question is unanswered or the response to the question fails computer or analyst edits.

For both unit and item nonresponse, a missing value is replaced by a predicted value obtained from an appropriate model for nonresponse. This procedure is called imputation and uses survey data and administrative records as input. In any given month, imputed data amounts to about 31 percent of the total monthly wholesale sales estimate and about 33 percent of the total wholesale end-of-month inventory estimate. For the annual survey, imputed data amounts to about 9 percent of the total wholesale sales estimate, about 7 percent of the total wholesale end-of-year inventory estimate, and around 12 percent of the total purchases estimate.

WHOLESALE TRADE

The Wholesale Trade sector comprises establishments engaged in wholesaling merchandise, generally without transformation, and rendering services incidental to the sale of merchandise.

The wholesaling process is an intermediate step in the distribution of merchandise. Wholesalers are organized to sell or arrange the purchase or sale of - 1. goods for resale (i.e., goods sold to other wholesalers or retailers), 2. capital or durable nonconsumer goods, or 3. raw and intermediate materials and supplies used in production. Wholesalers sell merchandise to other businesses and normally operate from a warehouse or office. These warehouses and offices are characterized by having little or no display of merchandise. In addition, neither the design nor the location of the premises is intended to solicit walk-in traffic. Wholesalers do not normally use advertising directed to the general public. Customers are generally reached initially via telephone, in-person marketing, or by specialized advertising that may include Internet and other electronic means. Follow-up orders are either vendor-initiated or client-initiated, generally based on previous sales, and typically exhibit strong ties between sellers and buyers. In fact, transactions are often conducted between wholesalers and clients that have long-standing business relationships.

This sector comprises two main types of wholesalers: those that sell goods on their own account and those that arrange sales and purchases for others generally for a commission or fee.

- Establishments that sell goods on their own account are known as wholesale merchants, distributors, jobbers, drop shippers, and import/export merchants. Also included as wholesale merchants are sales offices and sales branches (but not retail stores) maintained by manufacturing, refining, or mining enterprises apart from their plants or mines for the purpose of marketing their products. Merchant wholesale establishments typically maintain their own warehouse, where they receive and handle goods for their customers. Goods are generally sold without transformation, but may include integral functions, such as sorting, packaging, labeling, and other marketing services.
- Establishments arranging for the purchase or sale of goods owned by others or purchasing goods, generally on a commission basis, are known as business-to-business electronic markets, agents and brokers, commission merchants, import/export agents and brokers, auction companies, and manufacturers' representatives. These establishments operate from offices and generally do not own or handle the goods they sell. Some wholesale establishments may be connected with a single manufacturer and promote and sell the particular manufacturers' products to a wide range of other wholesalers or retailers. Other wholesalers may be connected to a retail chain or a limited number of retail chains and only provide a variety of products needed by the retail operation(s). These wholesalers may obtain the products from a wide range of manufacturers. Still other wholesalers may not take title to the goods, but act as agents and brokers for a commission. Although wholesaling normally denotes sales in large volumes, durable nonconsumer goods may be sold in single units. Sales of capital or durable nonconsumer goods used in the production of goods and services, such as farm machinery, medium and heavy-duty trucks, and industrial machinery, are always included in wholesale trade.

423 Durable Goods Merchant Wholesalers

Industries in the Durable Goods Merchant Wholesalers subsector sell capital or durable goods to other businesses. Merchant wholesalers generally take title to the goods that they sell; in other words, they buy and sell goods on their own account.
